Q4 2026 OUTLOOK
still falling
Management: not yet at the bottom; FX ≈6 pts off Q4 gross-profit growth

Why the stock barely moved

What held the stock up

- TPV $18.3bn, +77% y/y (+68% in constant currency): volume growth is accelerating, not slowing.
- Record net income $68.0M (+31%) and diluted EPS $0.23 vs $0.21–0.22 expected.
- Operating profit / gross profit 58%, the best since 4Q23: OPEX fell 11% q/q.
- Adjusted free cash flow $99M in the quarter, 146% of net income†; $182M over nine months.

What capped it

- Revenue $398.0M, flat q/q ($399.7M in Q2) and about 1–2% below consensus.
- Mexico: revenue +64% but gross profit −2% y/y and −17% q/q. Growth bought with price.
- FY operating-profit growth guided to the low end of 27.5–32.5%, while TPV goes to the top end.
- Part of the OPEX cut is temporary per management, so the 58% margin may not hold.

What management said

From published summaries of the release and call. The call transcript was not read in full for this report.

- FY2026 TPV growth toward the upper end of 60–70%; gross profit around the middle of 25–30%; operating profit toward the low end of 27.5–32.5%.
- FX (Brazil, Mexico, Argentina) takes about 6 percentage points off Q4 gross-profit growth.
- The take rate has not bottomed yet; lower pricing to large merchants is the trade for volume.
- Part of the OPEX reduction is structural and part is timing.

AUTOMATIC LABEL	OPPORTUNITY SCORE	BUY UP TO	LAST CLOSE
Buy	7.88	$21.56	$13.69

The model still reads the 30 Jun 2026 financials, so this quarter is not in the score yet. Profit and cash flow support the Buy label; the risk is the growth input once flat q/q revenue and a falling take rate are ingested. The price is 37% below the Buy-up-to, so a label change would have to come from the score, not the price.

Automatic model label from the 13 Nov 2026 build, not an independently approved purchase recommendation. Analyst review status is shown separately on the scoreboard.
